

CNTNR Modular Building Solutions FOREMAN - Framing, Electrical, Mechanical

CNTNR Modular Building Solutions is a rapidly expanding, innovative modular manufacturing company that is challenging the status quo of the construction industry. We have pioneered a manufacturing process using repurposed steel shipping containers, prefabricated into modular building blocks and assembled on-site to create container-based structures. The result: eco-friendly, structurally superior buildings in half the time of traditional building processes that are also beautiful, functional, and modern.

With a product this spectacular we need a team equal to it. If you have the skills and drive to be part of the next generation of construction, apply today. We offer competitive wages, performance bonuses, and profit sharing—because we want the best.

The Foreman role is full time, offering a highly competitive compensation package including fair wage, benefits and positive company culture.
